Each historical destination that is featured is chosen from the Travel Guide, and all sections of the state will be represented: Western, Central, Eastern, Northern, and Upper Peninsula. The articles contain a brief description; a photo; details on location, hours, admission cost, and visitor accessibility; and contact information of the historical destination.

This partnership with MLive is another benefit for our member organizations, and it focuses on one of our five mission points: support for local history organizations. Plus, this is a great opportunity for the public to learn more about Michigan's diverse heritage and cultures. It's another

Keeping history at everyone's fingertips.

The Historical Society of Michigan is our state's oldest cultural organization, founded in 1828 by territorial governor Lewis Cass and explorer Henry Schoolcraft. A nongovernmental nonprofit, the Society focuses on publications, conferences, education, awards and recognition programming, and support for local history organizations to preserve and promote Michigan's rich history.

Kids

The Historical Society of Michigan is seeking a qualified individual to serve as Education Outreach Director and Editor of Michigan History for Kids. This position is funded by a major two-year grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation.

The Education Outreach Director and Editor of Michigan History for Kids magazine, under the leadership of the Society's Assistant Director for Diversity and Outreach, is part of a team implementing our recently funded grant "Expanding the Story: Engaging Michigan's Urban, Minority, and Underserved Communities." This includes the development and re-launch of the magazine Michigan History for Kids last published in 2008, development and distribution of curriculum and other school outreach activities, and part of the leadership and supervision of the Society's other educational programs.
